2019 CORVETTE CARAVAN

What a great adventure we had. We checked into Abel's to start our trip. They cleared out the lot in front of the dealership to fit all the Corvettes checking in. We damn near filled the whole space up. We picked up our packets and had coffee and breakfast burritos before heading out, (Thanks Abel Chevrolet).

A trend started here that seemed to last throughout the caravan, instead of waiting and leaving in one big group, small groups were heading out to start their trip. Our group was Denise and I, Paul and Trudi deLeon, Rich and Patti Brunetto, Ralph and Diana Cernera, Wes Cernera and friend Liz, Tim and Karen Denham, Bill and Jennifer Montgomery, Ed and Nancy O'brien, Carol Ayers and friend Kent. Sadly to say this was the only time we all traveled together due to the way things just happened to go.

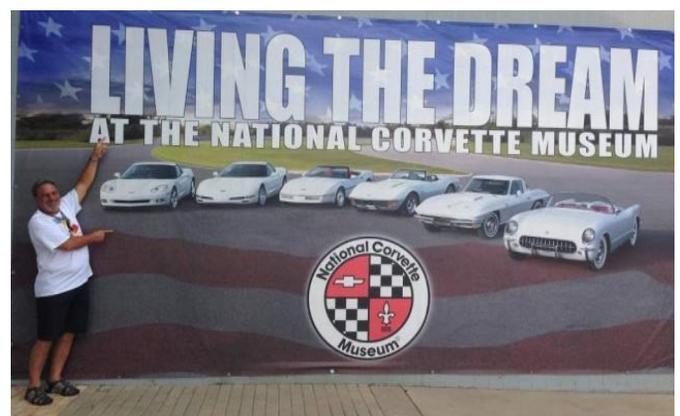

Our lunch stop on day one was in Carson City NV. We had a box lunch and drinks at Kohl Chevrolet and they had a raffle drawing we were waiting for. Tim was sitting with his head on the table and clearly something wasn't right. Unfortunately he was unable to continue his trip and had to return home for medical care so we just had to double our fun to make up for them. I'm realizing this would be a book if I wrote of the whole caravan, so here are some of my highlights.

Arches National Park, amazing natural structures that you don't have to hike to see. The drive on highway 70 from Utah to Silverthorne Co. The drive up Pikes Peak, what a view. The evening at Cape Girardeau Mo. That city really welcomed us and Corvettes took over the town. Seeing the C-8 Corvettes. Amazing cars, would love to have one in my future. NCM Motorsports Park. I got on track 2 days on this fast, challenging, fun track. The Grand Ole Opry, Great show Third & Lindsley, small several hundred seat bar, we saw Vince Gill play with the TimeTravelers. Driving The Tail of the Dragon, world class driving, curvy road (318 curves in 11 miles) Pigeon Forge TN. The main highway through town was like Branson Mo. with family attractions and dinner shows throughout town with as many hot rods and muscle cars as I have ever seen, where cruisin is alive and thriving. Drury Inn & Suites. Midwest hotel chain that gives you breakfast and dinner buffet plus 3 drinks per person from the bar every night. Very friendly staff at each location we stayed. We had a great time and will definitely do it again.

Going to the museum was just a small sliver of the journey. The biggest thing I take away is from the people who don't know the difference between a C-5 or a Stingray or a C-6. Seeing groups of Corvettes just seemed to make people happy.

I would like to thank John and Ryan Allen also who couldn't make the drive out but showed up in Nashville with a nice big rent a car to haul us around and join in on the fun and let our Corvettes rest a little.

Seeing our incredible country in Corvette, what an experience!

This was Diana's and my first time participating in the NCM Corvette Caravan to Bowling Green Kentucky. Being the 25th Anniversary of the NCM made it even better. And one step above that was also being able to do this trip with our son Wes and his girlfriend Liz, also first-timers.

We started our journey in our driveway the morning of August 22nd, trying to figure out how we were going fit 'all that crap' into our Vettes for a two plus week trip. As Mark Zupan mentioned on one of the many mornings repacking at a hotel, "caravan is not for wimps!" Somehow we got it all in, and would rearrange the 'clothes puzzle' many more times over the next coming days.

There were nine Corvettes from DBCC (a new record I believe), leaving that morning from Able Chevrolet, along with about 90 other cars in our "Pacific Central" group.

We headed northeast towards Carson City where we welcomed a pit stop and box lunch at Hohl Chevrolet, and then off we went again. Our first overnight stop was in Fallon Nevada, where we enjoyed a stop at the Fallon Air Force base, home of the real "Top Gun" naval weapons school training center. We had a great dinner in the officers club, and were able to hang with the 'students' in the bar before heading to our hotels.

As we drove east, different members carved multiple paths to the finish line, but we all spent time in various sized 'Corvette caravan clusters' as we worked our way across the country. The next days took us personally across highway 50 (aptly named the Loneliness Highway in America) through Richfield Utah, Silverthorne Colorado, Colby Kansas, and Kansas City Missouri.

The crown jewel stop (other than Bowling Green of course), had to be Cape Girardeau, Missouri. These folks definitely know how to host a Corvette Caravan and throw a party! The entire downtown area was cordoned off and filled with Corvettes. My guess was 400-500 of them. There were street vendors, food trucks, live music, and a free shuttle to the casino. It was incredibly organized and the best 'car show' I have ever been to. The next morning they organized a group exodus from the town shopping center with a full police escort leading us out of town and onto the freeway. I would love to see the aerial footage of that if there was any.

We left Cape Girardeau into the home stretch, and after seven days and 6 nights of driving, eating, drinking, unpacking/repacking, yelling at the navigator, etc., we finally arrived in Bowling Green, to be greeted by some 8,000 other Corvettes and their owners. Quite the sight!

We stayed in Nashville for four days, visited the NCM and ran the track day, then worked our way back home on US40, which is paralleled by the old Route 66, and home to many other great sights, like the "Painted Cadillac's standing in the dirt":

The Corvette is an incredible vehicle, as we all already know, and it performed flawlessly on the trip. By the time we returned home, we had logged a total of about 5,000 miles, and most of those were near or above the 80 MPH mark. The AC never stopped running, and even with that I averaged 26 miles per gallon in our C6 with over 100,000 miles on it.

As we all know, there is something very passionate about the Corvette owner. We clearly love our cars, but being part of the Corvette 'family' makes it even better. Since joining the DBCC, we have made so many new friends, and it was that much more special to be able to make part of this journey with them.

Fast is Good.

Hi everyone!

I recently returned from a two-week vacation where I traveled to Jordan, Israel and Egypt. It was such an amazing adventure, I went with a tour group and everyday was a nonstop experience.

I returned in time to participate in the Reiff's Gas Station Museum and Truck & Tractor Museum. Both were very interesting places. The Reiff's Gas Station Museum is located in a residential area. It is a home that has been converted to a museum. I kept wondering how the owner of the home was able to convert it to a museum without the neighbors complaining.

Congratulations to the members who were able to participate in the Caravan. It looks like they had a fantastic time. There are some Caravan pictures included in this Newsletter but many more will be featured in the upcoming Newsletter.

See you soon,
